

Long-context systems: finite register projection causes temporal collapse

